

WELL KNOWN G. A. R. VETERAN BADLY INJURED

A F. Horn of Lakeport, a well known veteran of the civil war, who was for a time employed as a shipkeeper on the navy yard, received a bad shaking up and nervous shock Friday afternoon by being struck by a car on the Laconia street railway. Mr. Horn was in front of his home on Union avenue near Bridge street when his hat was blown off by the wind and went out into the middle of the street, and Mr. Horn went after it just as a car, driven by Motorman Davis, which is used between the Clark turnout and The Weirs, came along just ahead of the regular car. Motorman Davis brought his car to a stop and signaled to have the other car stop, but the distance was too short, and the last car ran into the first, pushing it along five or six feet, causing it to hit Mr. Horn. He was taken to his home, where he was attended by Dr. G. H. Saltmarsh, who found that he had received a bad shaking up and a nervous shock. Mr. Horn is a popular member of the John L. Perley post, G. A. R., of this city, and is about 67 years of age.

WARM BATTLE IN THE SENATE

Senator Smith Says He Can See Beet Sugar Industry Doomed

Washington, May 9.—Republicans of the senate leaped eagerly in their fight against the Underwood tariff bill when it was brought over from his house today and precipitated an issue by attempting to override the decision of the Democrats and consider the measure without public hearings. Forerunning the assault against the schedules from agate to zine, Senator Penrose sought to have the bill referred to the finance committee with instruction for public hearings, after Senator Simmons, chairman of the committee, had moved for reference without instructions.

Action on this phase was pending when the senate adjourned until Tuesday, several Republican leaders predicting that they would win their contentions and that public hearings would be forced over the heads of the finance committee. Democratic leaders, however, disputed this prediction.

Speaking to the Penrose amendment, Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan in a vigorous appeal for consideration of the bill in the open, instead of in the darkness and gloom of the committee room, assailed the tariff bill. He declared that it would

GENTLEMEN'S NIGHT WITH THE PYTHIAN SISTERS

Male Members of Crystal Temple Act as Hosts and Serve Supper.

Friday night was observed as Gentlemen's Night by the members of Crystal Temple, Pythian Sisters and they showed their ability to provide a supper for the sisters.

The meeting was largely attended and four candidates were elected to membership. Since its institution five years ago, this Temple has doubled its membership and was the first Temple in the state to respond to the call for aid for the Ohio flood sufferers. The Temple has recently contributed to the District Nursing Association.

After the meeting the brothers served a fine supper under the direction of Chief Brady the menu comprising salmon salad, ruddish, cold ham, rolls, assorted cake, macaroons, vanilla and strawberry ice cream, hot coffee.

After all had done justice to the good things prepared by the male members a social hour followed. A pleasant feature of the occasion was the unexpected appearance of Brother John Kieling of East Boston. The Temple voted to hold a chafing dish lunch at their next meeting.

INSPECTORS GIVEN ONE YEAR

No Disclosures Made by Any of the Four on the "Man Higher Up"

New York, May 9.—Dennis Sweetey, John J. Murtha, James E. Hunssey, and James E. Thompson, former police inspectors, convicted of conspiring to obstruct justice to check graft revelations involving them were sentenced today to serve one year in the penitentiary and pay a fine of $500 each. This is the maximum sentence.

Up to the very moment that sentence was pronounced the belief prevailed that one of the four would "sneak" to the district attorney on the man higher up. If any of them had entertained such intention, he masked it under a stolid front as he faced the bar. Reports that one of the four were bargaining with Mr. Whitman for a suspension of sentence with information as to the head of the system as the consideration were still prevalent about the criminal court building after sentence had been pronounced.

No more of any sort looking to an appeal was taken by any of the four prisoners today. An efforted club against appeal is held by the district attorney in the form of nineteen indictments for bribery, a felony, recently returned against the quartet.

The case against these four inspectors grew out of the investigation of alleged police grafting on vice, of which one incident was the murder of the gambler Rosenthal one morning ten months ago.

George A. Ship, a resort keeper told Mr. Whitman that he paid regular protection money to collectors acting for Sweetey. When it came time for Ship to testify before the grand jury it was found that he had fled the state. He was later brought back to New York and testified that Sweetey and his three co-defendants had raised a fund and hired him to remain out of the state.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Pleasant Observance by Little Miss Marjory Grover on Friday.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Grover on Union street was the scene on Friday afternoon from three until five o'clock of a very pretty and enjoyable party, the occasion being the fifth birthday of their older daughter, Marjorie Elmhurst. The little boys and girls in attendance indulged in all the well known children's games and seemed to be having the time of their lives. The all-important moment, however, was when they found themselves seated at a gayly decorated table loaded with good things, a large bouquet of carnations and a birthday cake with candles being the centre of attraction. After ice cream and all the other goodies were feasted on to their hearts' content, the children said their good-byes, wishing many happy returns of the day to little Marjorie.

Those present were Dorothy Lydston, Winona Dimock, Gertrude Dwyer, Irene Fritz, Josephine Lilley, Walter Hartwell, Justin M. Clark, Morris Dimock, Stewart Dimock, Arnold J. Grover and Marjorie E. Grover.

IN A NEW FORM.

Saco Policeman Says Whiskey Tablets Are Used in Biddeford.

A Saco special policeman of considerable experience in the two cities is authority for the statement that whiskey tablets are in use in Biddeford. He says that he obtained his information from a man who tried to buy some whiskey, but who, finding how the whiskey was manufactured, changed his mind and bought some cigars of the establishment where he was, and will order his whiskey elsewhere hereafter.

The information is to the effect that the tablets are in half pint, pint, and quart sizes, so to speak; that is, if you want a pint, the tablet for the pint measure will be selected, dropped in a pint of water, dissolved and rapidly stirred, and soon you have a pint of whiskey, a brand that may justly be called "firewater."

The would-be purchaser saw his order being filled by the use of a quart tablet and at once became frightened out of the purchase. He was to be charged a dollar for the mixture.

DIRTY COWS.

State Board of Health Finds Conditions Bad at Nashua.

An examination of the sources of the milk supply of the city of Nashua made recently by the state board of health, showed 23 farms with dirty cows, 10 with fairly clean cows, 3 with clean cows, and only 3 animals which had been submitted to the tuberculin test. The inspector visited 12 distributors and 41 producers, and in four cases the conditions were found so filthy that the sale of milk was prohibited.

ENGINEER KILLED.

Head Crushed as He Looked Out of Cab Window.

Amos Nason, 35, of Reading, Mass., an engineer on the Conway branch of the Portland division of the Boston & Maine was killed at Southburyville on Friday afternoon while preparing for his night run to Boston. Nason came to Southburyville on the 4:30 train and going direct to the roundhouse took his engine and started direct for the coal pocket to load up for his regular night run on the ice train.

Dragged from Cab

While entering the pocket he ran his head out of the window of his cab and was caught between a heavy beam of the building and the cab, crushing his head severely. His fireman succeeded in bringing the engine to a stop and shouted for help. Trainmen who were near at hand rushed to the coal pocket, where they found Nason lying beside his engine, from which he had been dragged through the window.

NEW SCHEDULE FOR THE SUNSET LEAGUE

Made Necessary By Withdrawal P. C. U.-Secretary Robinson Succeeded By George J. Murray.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Sunset League on Friday evening, at the P. C. U., the final arrangements were made for the season of 1913.

The P. C. U. officially withdrew as a member of the league, and this left six teams in the league and of course necessitated a new schedule. Secretary Allan Robinson, had prepared such a schedule and it was adopted.

Mr. Robinson then offered his resignation as secretary and treasurer of the league, a position he has admirably filled since it was established. Press of other business was the reason for his resignation and the directors reluctantly accepted it and gave him a vote of thanks.

Mr. George J. Murray was then unanimously elected secretary and treasurer of the league.

Owing to the fact that there are only six teams it will not be necessary to start the league schedule until May 19 instead of May 12 as first planned. The league will close August 4th.

Stovall of St. Louis Browns Deposed by League President

St. Louis, May 10.—Bobby Wallace, who was appointed manager of the Browns, to take the place of George Stovall, whom President Johnson of the American League has benched and indefinitely suspended, Wallace held the job for four days, but was never met with any great success, he maintained perfect discipline, which seems to be the thing most desired by the league head. All St. Louis is talking about the severe punishment meted out to Stovall in the game with the Naps here May 3. The big first base man has improved the standing of the club to a surprising extent, and it was thought that he might possibly squeeze the Browns into the first division. Stovall's fire was used in the sixth inning of the game with the Naps when Umpire Ferguson called a strike on him that he didn't like and in the altercation which followed he not only scratched the umpire's hat from his head, but spit on his coat. Umpire Ferguson's telegraphic report of the incident Stovall was indefinitely benched, but upon Johnson's receipt of further details in a special delivery letter he not only removed him from the managerial office but suspended him indefinitely without pay. Those on the inside say that they wouldn't be surprised if Stovall was never allowed to play in organized baseball again. Stovall stands the most disgraced base ball player in history and the first manager that a league President has ever found it necessary to depose.

The farmers' team is drawn up and at suitable distances there are plat forms which may be used if desired.

Someone that a farmer wants to send his produce to New York. He may intercept this express car at the roadside or hill it over the head line, the charge to be adjusted and sent to him the following day. The agent on the car will accept freight in like manner for the South or West.

No Milk Business

Before the electric express cars were put on between Providence and Narragansett Pier there was no milk business in this region, whatever, due to the fact that farmers had to drive to the station of the steam and at the Pier, a distance sometimes over eight miles. The effect of the express service was instantly to open up an entirely new market for milk and the farmers were quick to take advantage of it. Today this line handles a business of over 200 cans a day. The earnings of the milk business of the company last year amounted to $8,000, which was an increase of $6,000 over the previous year, showing that this service has meant to these communities in respect to convenience alone.

The Rhode Island company maintains two freight depots at Providence, from whence the cars are sent out over the various lines. Not only Providence and Western Connecticut is so covered, but points in Massachusetts as well. From the depot at Fox Point where freight is taken and received from the boat lines, direct trips are made daily to Fall River and two points; three to New Bedford; two to Weymouth and Warrington and two to Taunton, Brockton, Middlebury, Plymouth, Quincy and Napaucet. By the first of next May a through service to Boston will have been established in connection with other lines.

Naturally it is not the cities or large towns which are the galleries of this service, it is the wayward farms and stores though even the towns and cities derive great advantage in receiving the benefit of what is really an express service at freight rates. These lines are operated under the Interstate Commerce Commission tariff classification, the way bill and routing being the same as on a steam road. There are special commodity rates for cotton bales, for granite and stone in carload lots for hay, milk, feed and lumber in bulk. Twenty cents a hundred pounds for example, is the highest charge from Providence to Putnam a distance of 41 miles.

Today in these sections the farmer and the storekeeper is no longer isolated. Instead he can feed any of the great arteries of commerce from his own front door. He can order comforts and luxuries and have them handed to him in a few hours.

Because of his isolation the small storekeeper off the line of the railroad formerly had to carry $25,000 worth of stock. Today by reason of the advantages placed at his disposal by these trolley lines he can reduce this to a stock worth only $4,000. It has thus been possible for more storekeepers to open up, a fact which also means added comfort for the farmer.

The Rhode Island Company did a freight business of $218,000 last year, which was an increase of $56,000 over the previous year. It operates about 30 cars a day.

The trolley express service has cut down the time of shipment from the stores of Providence to the little towns and hamlets from a day to a day and a half and has brought the city table and farm closer together. But more than that, by removing their isolation and by contributing greatly to their comfort it has helped to keep folks on the farm, and so to this extent is adding to the solution of what today is not alone a problem for New England but for the nation as well. —Fall River Herald.

MEXICO PEEVED THAT U. S. DID NOT RECOGNIZE HER

Mexico, City, May 9.—President Victoriano Huerta during his conference yesterday with Henry Lane Wilson, the American ambassador, stated very clearly the position of Mexico in relation to the United States. The following official version of what occurred during the conference was given to the Associated Press.

"Provisional President Huerta respectfully stated to Ambassador Wilson, that diplomat having referred to official matters, that the Government of Mexico was disposed to arrange the affairs pending between it and the Government of the United States. It was pointed out, however, that for the time being the American ambassador should understand the necessity which the Government of Mexico has for abstaining from treating any official matter, with the exception of urgent affairs or ordinary procedure, for the simple reason that while the Government of the United States did not recognize the Government of Mexico all arrangements would be ineffective in view of the fact that the Government of Mexico has no personality before the Government of the United States.

"This was the substance of the conference between his excellency Ambassador Wilson and the president of the republic of Mexico, General Victoriano Huerta. In addition, however, the Government of Mexico, whether recognized or not by the United States has adopted and will always adopt measures for the security of all the inhabitants of the country, whether its own nationals or foreigners, and this has been demonstrated by the attention given to the just petitions of those who have been in any manner injured by past revolutions. The United States and all the peoples of Europe have irrefutable proofs that the Government of Mexico is specially pledged to give guarantees to everybody without distinction of nationality."

JAPAN MAKES FORMAL
PROTEST TO SEC. BRYAN

Washington, May 8.—Japan's formal protest against the California
Alien Land bill was submitted to Sec.
Bryan at the State Department early today by Viscount Chinda, in person.
The protest will be placed before President Wilson and the Cabinet by Sec. Bryan this forenoon, that an answer may be promptly returned to the Japanese Embassy.

Sec. Bryan was a little late in arriving at his office, but five minutes after the appointed hour he was in conference with Viscount Chinda, who came to the State Department alone. The conference lasted for half an hour and at its conclusion the Secretary and the Ambassador left the department together, the former going directly to the White House to submit to the President the written communication which the Ambassador had given to him, and the Ambassador returning to the embassy.

The Secretary declined to make any statement about the character of the protest he had received until after the Cabinet meeting.

At noon, Sec. Bryan left the Cabinet meeting.

"I have no statement to make at this time," was his only reply to all inquirers. The Cabinet remained in session, and there were some intimations that some statement might come from the White House later.

Short Conference With Ambassador Shortly afterward Sec. Bryan and the Ambassador again met at the state department, but their conference was necessarily short because the secretary had to take the 12.30 p.
m. train for New York, where he will deliver an address tonight at a banquet.

Mr. Bryan said the conference with the Ambassador would be resumed tomorrow, upon his return from New York. This was taken as an indication that the state department was not yet prepared, even after the brief consideration in the Cabinet, to make a final answer to the Japanese objections as presented today by the Ambassador.

would be granted before the introduction of either the Taylor or the Vicksburg-Maxson work system in naval plants. N. P. Alfus, president of the Association of Yard Employers of District No. 4, headed the delegation.
Mr. Roosevelt said hearings probably would be held upon the return of Secretary Daniels, who is now touring South Atlantic yards.

Government by Threat.

Our democratic friends, Representatives Hobbs of Wolfboro and Davis of New Ipswich, who were so successful in the house on Tuesday in advocating a bill to prevent "government by injunction," which, by the way, is a minus quantity in New Hampshire, should turn their attention now to something on the same line which actually does exist, or seeks to exist, under the very dome of the state house itself, namely, government by threat. Samuel D. Felker, chief executive of the state of New Hampshire, has written a personal letter to the democratic members, and no others, of the state house of representatives; in itself a remarkable procedure. In this letter he gives a list of 22 measures, including the rank Dover gerrymander, which he wishes to have passed by the present legislature, although some of them, in this, the eighteenth week of the session, have not even been introduced. The governor of our state does not vouchsafe to explain in this letter why it will be well for the state to have these bills passed. He does not even say that they will benefit the state. But their passage, he says, "means a good deal for the success of the party." And how does he propose to whip the members of his party into line for the support of these measures, with or without merit? In this way: "A roll-call is being made several times each day and shows who are present and who are not, and certainly if any democrat expects to run for any office in the future his absence must of necessity count against him." To this glaring instance of attempted government by threats we respectfully call the attention of those democratic leaders who are filled with fear that at some future time we may become victims of government by injunction.—Monitor.

Cleaning Up Days in the Granite State.

Many towns and cities are having especially designated "cleanup" days, to encourage uniform efforts to brighten up appearances, and to make the municipalities more attractive, and especially for the multitude of tourists who within the next month or two will begin their pilgrimages through the country. Littleton, Lisbon and the other north country towns might well adopt this method of sprucing up, for there are few regions which have so large a quota of tourists within their borders during the summer as here at the gateway of the White Mountains. No one is able to comprehend the importance of a well-kept appearance in a town to the casual visitor, and it takes very little to make a town noticeable either one way or the other. One well-kept lawn may be completely neutralized by the carelessness of a neighbor in permitting refuse to accumulate, and a fine set of buildings may be spoiled by a tumble-down structure next door. It may be well to combine Arbor Day and "cleanup" day, for the two would go very harmoniously together.—Littleton Courier.

Spring Fever.

Some people give that name to the enervating languor brought on by the first warm weather. Others apply it to the restless dreams of winding country roads and grassy front streams that tempt a man to shut his desk with a bang and skip. Spring is the hardest weather in the year for a fellow to work. The office or factory seems a friendly enough shelter during the chill storms of winter. In May the whole system of the world's work seems a crime. Dusty Rhodes looks like the only true philosopher. This confinement within four walls on these lovely days may be abnormal and different from the life man was built to lead. But the persistence with which people stick to their tasks, deaf to these calls of vagrant nature, shows that the human spirit has acquired some splendid habits of persistent industry and patient regularity. These habits and qualities in the long run bring ample rewards.

His Apology.

A traveling man got into a controversy with one of the phone girls in Atlantic City, and while somewhat excited told the young lady to "Just keep her shirt on." The manager of the exchange went to the gentleman and told him he had better apologize. He rang central and asked "Are you the young lady I told to keep her shirt on?" "I sure am," she snapped back. "Well it's all right with me; you can take it off if you want to," was his apology.

Dover Is Not Alone.

It is a fact beyond all question, that Dover in its long and proud history, never before sent such a desperate combination of political conspirators to vote away all rights of the people, as the present Dover delegation of representatives at Concord. There ought to be a day of reckoning.—Dover Tribune.

Judging by some of the legislation that is being enacted, the Dover legislators are not the only black sheep in the flock.

Monument In New York City to Perpetuate the Name of Carl Schurz, German-American Patriot.

At Morfinkside Avenue West and One Hundred and Sixteenth street, New York city, a handsome monument has been erected to the memory of Carl Schurz, great German American patriot and statesman. It was designed and wrought by Karl Bitter. The full effigies of Schurz is of bronze and shows Schurz in the long coat he so often wore. His robes around the base represent Schurz's work on behalf of the Indian and the negro, and on the pedestal is the inscription "Carl Schurz, Defender of Liberty and Friend of Human Rights." The unveiling of the monument, postponed several times, was finally set for May 10, with arrangements for the participation of many distinguished persons, among them being Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador, Mayor Gaynor of New York; Joseph H. Choate, chairman of the memorial committee, and Congressman Richard Bartholdt of Missouri. In the upper part of this illustration are shown, from left to right, the photographs of Congressman Bartholdt, Carl Schurz and Count von Bernstorff. In the lower right hand corner is a picture of Mr. Choate. To the left is a picture of the monument, draped and ready for the unveiling.

EDITORIAL OPINION.

Lookout Fire Stations.

The New Hampshire Timberland association has recently established a new forest fire lookout station on the summit of Mount Israel, in Sandwich. Of the twenty-five lookout stations operated by the state, the federal and the New Hampshire Timberland association, for the purpose of discovering forest fires and checking them before they obtain great headway, eighteen will be in commission during the entire season, and the other seven will be occupied in case of a severe drought or other emergency.—Laconia Democrat.

New Hampshire as a Magnet.

Nowadays New Hampshire doesn't have to confine herself to riding great men to moderate to other states. On the contrary, there seems to be a decided influx of the great and powerful of other states into New Hampshire, to reside at least a part of the year, for there is still plenty of room for more.—Rochester Courier.

Franklin Pierce.

After years of debate, of recrimination and of final refusals, comparable to the Butler statue controversy in Massachusetts which seems to have gone into retirement this session, by the way, the State of New Hampshire's legislature has decided to erect a memorial to Franklin Pierce, the Granite State's only president.

Pierce was not a great president, but he would have had a statue in New Hampshire long ago had it not been for his pro-slavery tendencies on a public man. These have at last been forgotten in favor of the facts that he was a brave soldier, a distinguished advocate, a president of the United States, and a Union man when the war came. Thus rancor dies and no one is harmed thereby. Less deserving men than Franklin Pierce have been honored with monuments.—Boston Post.

RAILROAD NOTES

The Baltimore & Ohio Southern freight handlers have struck. Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton freight handlers will probably go out in sympathy and others may follow, affecting big four and other roads. Three cents increase an hour is demanded.

Henry J. Horn, vice president of the Boston & Maine, and party left the North station, Boston on Friday to inspect the new Hampton road from Plymouth to Athol Junction. From thence the party will go to Brattleboro, Vt., via Springfield, Mass. and the new line. Mr. Robinson, superintendent of the Connecticut river division accompanied the party.

Edwin C. Sanborn, a well known resident of Concord died on Friday, aged 62 years, 7 months and 15 days. Mr. Sanborn has been in the employment of the Concord & Montreal and the Boston & Maine railroads for over thirty-three years.

The Boston & Maine railroad company today announced that the new Hampton road would be opened for passenger traffic on June 23. This road makes a shorter line from Springfield to Boston than now exists over the Boston & Maine tracks.

The big consolidated locomotive, 2323 of the Boston & Maine road, which was being fired up and got in readiness for a trip over the White Mountain develop ahead of a long string of freight cars, started out of her stall in No. 1 roundhouse at Concord on Friday down into the turntable pit.

What caused the locomotive to start away all by itself and to make a trip the result of which was a lot of work for the wrecking crew, has not been figured out.

It was stated that the reverse lever was hooked upon the center, but it is pointed out that it may have been one notch ahead, and that a leaky valve had allowed the rising steam to accumulate in the cylinder until it acquired the power sufficient to start the big machine on its way.

The Observer

Monday next, May 12, marks the anniversary of an event, local and interesting. We refer to the pulling down of the steeple of the Old North Church, which on that date in 1854 as an unusual occurrence drew a large crowd of our local population, and those of nearby towns, to Market square, all interested in the novelty of the performance. It had been torn talk for several days that it would be "a sight to see."

Gathered on the sidewalks about the square, on Market and Daniel streets, old and young were there at noon, looking skyward at the preliminary work which was in charge of Alden K. P. Deering of Wentworth street, a noted rigger, assisted by John Campbell of Water street, and others of ability in their work. A heavy rope, attached to the steeple some fifty feet above the belfry, led down Market street, power being supplied by oxen in pulling the steeple over. Mr. Deering with his crew of workmen, axes in hand, at 12:45 began to cut away the corner posts of the belfry, the strange sight of which held a watchful spell over the gazing crowd, and the "Oh!" and "Ah!" mingled with the sound of the chopping. Several attempts were made to topple the structure, resulting in a visible swaying, which called for intense enthusiasm among the crowd. The riggers had left the belfry for more safe quarters below, but had returned to the task of more cutting. Quite a number of men and boys came to the rope and assisted in the pull. The old steeple swayed under the increasing strain, and decreased support.

"It's coming! It's coming!" was the cry, as the increasing sway, and cracking of timber preceded the fall of the old steeple, which came down amid much excitement at five minutes past one o'clock, falling toward the store of William B. Walker. Clouds of dust obscured the ruins for a few minutes, after which the people gathered near to look at the heap of timber and boards, and to secure relics of the same. The scene, somewhat heated in the fall, was an object of inspection. The event was of historic interest. Since the year 1712 the church steeple had been a prominent mark as seen from the various points in town, and to those who had to come and go on the Piscataqua. The vane bore the date of 1732, the year that it was put up.

On Saturday, April 29, 1884, the church building had been sold at auction, the sale realizing about $400. Mr.

Leonard Cotton purchased the pews, and Frederick W. Rogers secured the building.

Charles W. Brewster, editor of the Portsmouth Journal, contributed a poem of his composition. Its seventeen verses began:

"I can't come down, I can't come down, Call loudly as you may; A century and a third I've stood And another I must stay."

At a meeting of the city council on Thursday evening, May 4, the offer of the use of the Methodist bell, to ring in place of the North church bell, was accepted.

The bell of the Temple on Chestnut street had been doing this service since the removal of that at the North Church. It is of interest to mention the fact that the Pleasant street church building at about this date was being offered for sale and there was quite a sentiment started in favor of its purchase by the city for a high school building, the argument being advanced that its cost would be very much less than to build a new high school house. The scheme did not make much progress and the city built the new quarters, the building now in use as a city hall, at the corner of Daniel and Chapel streets.

Forty-eight years ago there were busy times at the navy yard, four ships being on the stocks in process of building at that time. The commandant was Commodore T. Bailey, and his clerk was John Christie, in later years a familiar figure in local banking circles. Other officers attached to the station were Captain A. Murray, executive officer; Captain J. R. Goldborough, ordnance officer; Captain N. B. Harrison, aid to commandant; Dr. A. Gillan, surgeon; C. J. Emery, paymaster; E. P. Chandler, civil engineer; J. Thornton, navigation officer; S. B. Poole, naval constructor; R. M. Bartleman, chief engineer; C. B. Hawkins, master; Chaplain Bartel; Gunner Lydston, Carpenter Daniel Jones, Sailmaker Warren and Boatwain Dixon. Among the clerks employed at the yard at that time, Calvin L. Hayes, Ichabod Cole, Joseph Delaney, Captain Childs, Freeman Sanborn, J. Harare Kent, John Townsend, William Palfrey, William Asha. The vessels being built were the Mimetonika, Passaconaway, Illinois and Piscataqua.

Sunday will be the seventeenth anniversary of the beginning of Rev. Charles V. Brine's pastorate over Christ Episcopal church. Since taking up his abode, in this city, Rev. Mr. Brine has taken a deep interest in all matters pertaining to our city as well as the welfare of his parish, which we are happy to say has grown and prospered under his administration. We are informed that during his pastorate in this city the reverent gentleman has declined several flattering offers to go to other cities. I am also told that in his younger days the rector was an athlete of no mean ability and it took a good man to distance him in putting the shot.

RYE NEWS

The young people of the town are wondering if the Jolly Old Farmers of Rye are going to give another Old fashioned dance in the town hall this season. If so, they are anxiously anticipating this delightful event. The round of pleasures afforded by these old-fashioned dancing assemblies is immeasurable and they have been quite the most popular social affairs of the winter. Oh, Jolly Old Farmers, do give just one more!

The election of officers, especially of the superintendent of the Christian Church Sunday school seems to have become a proverbial joke among the members of that church.

The local fringe will be entertained by the members of the Stratham Grange on Tuesday evening, May 12. The members will enjoy a straw-due from Rye Center to Stratham town hall.

Mr. George P. Frost of North Hampton has secured a position at Rye Beach for the summer.

Several young people of this town will attend the social dancing assembly given under the management of Messrs. Wright, Moore and Lane at Centennial hall, North Hampton, this evening. Music will be furnished by Craig and Winn of Portsmouth.

There are many houses for sale and to rent in town at present and Rye doesn't seem to be booming as much as it ought. It is one of the most desirable residential towns of beautiful New England and real estate conveyances ought not to be so difficult to transact.

The report in erroneous that Mr. Scully of Portsmouth recently purchased a house at near Lang's Corner, as stated in the issue of this paper on Wednesday.

A brand new crop of colored Kittery Point postal cards has appeared this spring, indicating that the fad has by no means subsided.

Port McAllister is now labeled as a ruin, but on the other hand, the historic home of Sir William Pepperell is depicted with an imaginative coat of red paint. Why stop at mere painting? The public anxiously awaits a card showing how the ancient edifice would strike the eye with the addition of a few bay windows, a piazza, and a garage in the back yard.

BOWLING

There were two good matches in the city bowling championships at the Arcade alleys on Friday evening.

Wilson disposed of Caswell and Badger defeated Mowe. It was a close match with Badger making a sensational finish. He got two strikes and seven pins on his third ball, making as near a perfect score as has ever been made on the alleys. It was a wonderful finish and he justly deserved to win.

The matches this week eliminated all but six and they are matched for next week as follows: Jennings vs Wilson. Tremper vs Woods. Badger vs Russell.

SEEK TO INCREASE POTATO CROP IN MAINE

Success in Aroostook County Could Be Duplicated Elsewhere.

RAILROADS ARE HELPING

Results on Experimental Farm Show That Crop Can Be Augmented.

Twenty-five years ago or more there was undertaken in the state of Maine a colonization scheme by which it was hoped to increase largely the population of Aroostook county, the largest and the most northern county in the state. A few hundred Swedish immigrants were induced to move there, homes were built for them, land was given to them on easy terms and in many other ways the settlement was encouraged by the state and its cities. All this was done with a view of making something out of a part of the state which, lying at the jumping off point of the United States and peering away up into Canada, as it were, had remained practically undeveloped.

Today the town of New Sweden, which these Swedish colonists founded, is the centre of an agricultural region of great and growing prosperity. These Swedish farmers have spread all over the county. Their farms climb the hillsides and nestle in the valleys of a section which before their coming was regarded by many as so much waste land, uninviting to the settler because of its remoteness and unprofitable for agriculture.

Today the product of these Swedish farmers and of Aroostook farmers in general is known throughout the length and breadth of this country and Canada as well, is used to increase the returns of many farms far removed from this part of the country and enters into the daily sustenance of the people as do few other commodities. That product is potatoes.

Maine isn't a big state, but it produces more potatoes to the acre than any other state in the union. The average yield for the United States is 106.1 bushels. The average yield for the state of Maine is 210.3 bushels. Only the Rocky Mountain states have come anywhere near rivaling Maine as the potato country. Idaho comes nearest with a yield of 200 bushels to the acre. New York, the third potato state, yields but 120 bushels and Michigan but 105 bushels.

Aroostook county produces most of the Maine potatoes. Probably 75 per cent. of Maine potatoes are raised within its borders. It exceeds all other counties in the United States in the production of potatoes. Its farmers are, strictly speaking, potato farmers.

The value of the Maine potato crop in one year amounted to $10,225,841. The value of the entire potato crop of the country was only $106,000,000 in the same year. To move the Maine potato crop requires hundreds of freight cars. Great warehouses have been built to facilitate the handling of it. There Aroostook county farmers breed pedigree potatoes as one would breed for cows or horses. They try for different types of potatoes as one tries for blooded stock. And they send the results of their efforts all over the United States in the form of seed potatoes from which the crops of the country are raised.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is Portsmouth evidence of their merit.

B. A. Berry, 174 Congress street, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did a member of our family more good than any other remedy he ever tried. The person referred to is employed on the railroad and the constant jolting and jarring of the cars weakened his kidneys. His back was very lame and at times his whole body became sore. Learning that Doan's Kidney Pills were a fine remedy for kidney complaint he procured a box at Phillips' drug store and began using them. Before long a cure was effected and from that day to this, the kidney trouble has not returned. I also used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of lameness in my back and strengthened my kidneys."

raised. These seed potatoes bring from $1 to $7 a bushel. Peculiarities in soil and climate have combined to make Maine the potato state, but curiously enough, despite this wonderful success, the business of raising potatoes is still confined very largely to Aroostook county, although in the opinion of those experts who have carefully investigated potato culture, there is absolutely no reason why much of the tillable land in the state should not be given over to it.

With this end in view there has lately been started by the railroads of New England, through their Industrial Bureau, an advertising campaign designed to induce people looking for money-making possibilities to investigate the profits arising from the Maine potato and to cause a spread of potato farms over many other parts of the state. To get some of these Aroostook farmers to come down from their northern farms and show folk in other parts how to raise their specialties is one of the objects of the bureau and already this has been accomplished to some extent.

Aroostook county is 150 miles north of Washington county, which likewise touches the eastern frontier of our country. Yet Washington county, with thousands of acres of land awaiting settlement should yield potatoes in the same manner as Aroostook county. Already there is an indication of what can be done in this line.

A little over a year ago the Industrial Bureau of the New England Lines, as part of its plans for the upbuilding of New England, started an experimental farm covering 35,000 acres of land in Washington county. A part of this was virgin land. It had to be cleared as the pioneers cleared the fertile farms of Wisconsin and other Western states. Twenty acres were planted in potatoes. The yield was 250 bushels to the acre and the potatoes were pronounced by a government inspector from Washington to be the best which had come under his observation in the entire state.

Not alone was it proved that the soil in that part of Maine would produce potatoes, but to the surprise of experts, such as Prof. A. J. Bastell of the Geological Survey, it was shown that the potato here matured much earlier than elsewhere. There was the added advantage of a somewhat longer season than that possessed by the potato farms farther north and a nearer market.

The value of the potato crop to the acre for the United States, according to the last census, was $46.26. The average value of the potato crop in Maine is $76.28. The average value of land in Maine where the potato grows is $12.75 an acre. The average for farm land in the United States is $32.40. Take Illinois or Iowa, for example, and the average price for land runs up to $55.02 for the former and $33.58 for the latter. The best crop of Illinois, the hay crop, yielded only $19.74 to the acre. You can buy land in Maine as low as $2.50 an acre, and, according to the experts, get a return of $50. And there are fully 13,000,000 of people east of the Hudson river within easy reach by rail and boat for whom potatoes form one of the chief articles of diet.

Present plans now under consideration have for their object the booming of Maine as a place for raising this most popular of vegetables, and to show that she can rival if not surpass some of the noted agricultural states in the way of affording a chance for large and quick profits by reason of the supremacy of the Maine potato.

If these plans are carried out the business of raising the Maine potato is to be further systematized and facilitated by the erection of potato warehouses in farming sections. There is a possibility that the railroads may undertake this themselves, following the same plan by which creameries have been established. The railroad could lease such warehouses to the buyers. Such an arrangement would undoubtedly be of great help in increasing the potato crop, now the most valuable of the state.

THE TEXAS NEARS COMPLETION
The battleship Texas, building at Newport News, Va., advanced 1.5 points last month and stands 88.4 per cent completed, while the dreadnought New York building in the New York yard, advanced two points, thus being 77.2 per cent completed. The battleships Nevada and Oklahoma, building at Quincy, Mass., and New York advanced 4 and 5.5 points, respectively, during the same period, according to figures made public at the Navy Bureau of Construction and Repair today. The new battleship Pennsylvania, to be built at Newport News, has not yet been laid down. The destroyer Cassin, which advanced 2.2 points to 81.2 per cent of completion, leads the craft of that type now under construction. One submarine, F-4, was completed at Seattle during the month, leaving the G-1, now 82.1 per cent completed at the head of the fourteen submarines under construction. Work has not yet been started on eight submarines for which the contracts have been awarded.

SCUTARI IN FLAMES ALLIES ARE BLAMED

London, May 9.—A new Montenegro Cabinet under the premiership of General Vukitch, was formed today to take the place of the Government which resigned when King Nicholas decided to evacuate Scutari at the behest of the European Powers. The Foreign Office immediately afterwards opened negotiations with the commanding officers of the international force blockading the coast of Montenegro, and arrangements were made for the evacuation of Scutari, which began yesterday and will be completed by Sunday, when the last of the Montenegrin soldiers will march out of the city. The foreign airships will then land detachments from the fleet and the formal surrender of the old Turkish fortress will be made to the combined international force.

King Nicholas today, in a speech to the members of the Montenegrin Parliament, declared that in the interest of general peace and in order to save Montenegro and the entire Serb nation, he had been forced to give in to the European Powers, Russia, Serbia and Greece, he declared, had counselled submission on the part of Montenegro, Russia, however, had undertaken to continue to protect the little kingdom.

Scutari in Flames
Fire broke out in the bazaar of the former Turkish fortress of Scutari this morning and, fanned by a high wind, rapidly assumed huge proportions. It is reported in Vienna that the Montenegrins started the blaze when leaving the city in revenge for being compelled to evacuate it.

Working on Albanian Boundary.
The ambassadorial conference set for two hours yesterday but reached no important decision. It is not expected that the conference will resume before May 20. In the mean time proposals defining the limits and status of the new Albania will be submitted to the European Governments. The peace conference will assemble in London, and presumably detachments from the international fleet will take possession of Scutari pending final settlements.

Bulgar Greek Understanding Likely
The Salonica correspondent refers to the ominous appearance of the situation between Bulgaria and Greece. The armies of these two states are facing each other in the Salonica district on a war footing. Elaborate defences have been constructed around Kavala. These include forty cannon pointing seaward to resist an attack from the Greek fleet. It is even reported that gifting has occurred at Portes, ten miles south of Drama. He adds that there are signs, however, that Bulgaria is ready to settle her differences with Greece and would be willing to forego her claim to Salonica and to a portion, if not all, of the interland, which the Greek Government regards as her irreducible minimum.

MILITANTS DRIVE MINISTERS FROM ENGLAND

London, May 9.—Gen. Mrs. Flora Drummond, the militant suffragette leader, who collapsed twice in Bow street police court in yesterday's conspiracy proceedings against the principal officers of the Women's Social and Political Union, is today very ill from the effect of her privations during her hunger strike while under remand, and the physician in attendance has advised her to undergo an operation.

The anxiety of the British authorities over the threat of the militant suffragettes to eclipse their destructive acts of the past week was displayed today when Premier Asquith and First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Spencer Churchill, accompanied by their wives, left Waterloo station on the southwestern railway, to proceed to the coast in order to join the admiralty yacht Enechantress, on which they expect to make an extended cruise in the Mediterranean.

A large number of aids-de-camp, Government departmental secretaries and railway officials surrounded the party formed by the Cabinet Ministers and those who had come to bid them farewell. Beyond these there was an outer circle of detectives, to protect the ministers from any undue attention on the part of militant suffragettes or their male supporters. So great was the protecting force in the railway station that any demonstration by the suffragettes would have been impossible.

Mr. Asquith and Mr. Churchill intend to inspect the British garrisons and naval stations in the Mediterranean.

A militant suffragette arson squad was out this morning and succeeded in destroying by fire a large untenanted mansion near Harrow in Furness, Lancashire. A quantity of suffragette literature was found scattered on the lawns surrounding the house.

FOUR DROWNED IN PORTLAND HARBOR

Portland, Me., May 9.—This morning a coal barge of Randall & McAlister, towed by the tug Portland, Capt. Daniel Peterson, capsized off the lower end of Great Chebeague Island, where the current is very strong, and went down. The following were drowned: John Conley, 58, who is survived by his wife and family; Patrick Malla, 42, who is survived by his wife and six children; Carl Peterson, 65, who had a family; Festus McDonough, 28.

It is thought that possibly the boiler exploded when the barge overturned, because John Meehan, the engineer, was struck by some flying object. He is a strong swimmer and managed to reach the house of the barge and was saved by the crew of the Portland. Joseph McDonough was with Meehan in the fire room and was struggling in the water when reached and saved.

Had the barge proceeded a few rods further she would have gone into smooth water. There is always a very strong current at that point, and this morning at the time of the accident there was some wind. The barge had the usual load of coal.

Carl Peterson made a brave fight for life, but went down just before he reached him. He is survived by his wife and three children. Festus

LASTED FOUR INNINGS.

Jim Trayers Gets His from Fordham in the Fifth.

Fordham defeated Catholic University of Washington yesterday at Fordham Field in an uphill battle by a score of 8 to 4. The Southerners took an early lead by annexing two tallies in the second inning and one in the third and fifth respectively.

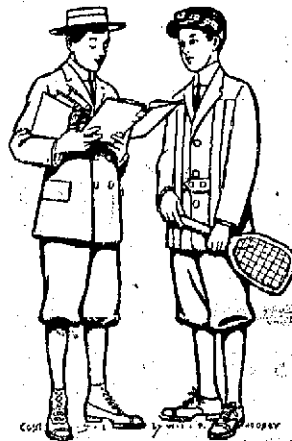

Trayers, who was on the mound for the Washington institution, held Fordham hitless for the first four innings and he looked like a winner. He blew up in the fifth however, and the Bronxians battled out three runs. Trayers was succeeded by Ryan, who fared no better than his predecessor, the maroon sluggers solving his delivery for four hits, among them a clean home run drive by Leach, which netted four runs and the game. Fordham added another to its total in the seventh on hits by Ed Rife and Shuckey. Billy Walsh, who did the pitching for Fordham, though hit freely in the early innings, did not allow one of his opponents to get on base after the fifth inning.
